To make such a request, please send an email to privacyofficer@ayson.us.

IV. ACCOUNTABILITY FOR ONWARD TRANSFER

The performance of services or the other processing of your personal data may involve the transfer of certain personal data to or from third parties, including our third-party service providers. If the Firm transfers personal data to a third party, the recipient will have the same level of protection as required of the Firm. In addition, all third-party service providers engaged by the Firm are bound by contract to refrain from using any personal data for any purpose other than the provision of the given service for the Firm.

In addition to disclosures described above, we may disclose or transfer personal data to third parties in connection with, or during negotiations of, any merger, acquisition, spin-off, sale of company assets, subsidiary, any financing or any similar transaction. We may also disclose personal data to third parties in order to prevent damage or harm to us, our services or any person or property, if we believe that disclosure is required by law (including to meet national security or law enforcement requirements), or in response to a lawful request by any public or governmental authority.

The Firm does not sell, trade or transfer personal data to third parties. However, the Firm may share personal data with its subsidiaries for the purposes of providing clients with information about our subsidiary's service offerings. For example, the Firm may provide emails to its subsidiary or a third-party service provider for direct email distribution of blogs, on-line surveys, or notifications.

Except as described in this Privacy Policy, we will not otherwise disclose personal data to any third parties unless you have been provided with an opportunity to opt in to such disclosure and, in the case of personal data collected from children, the appropriate verifiable consent is obtained.

If an individual wishes to opt out or limit the use and disclosure of their personal data to a third party or a use that is incompatible with the purpose for personal data was originally collected or authorized, the individual may send such request to privacyofficer@ayson.us. When the Firm transfers personal data to countries other than the country where it was provided, we do so in compliance with applicable data protection laws. We may transfer personal data from persons outside of the U.S. to third parties located either in the U.S. or otherwise; in compliance with applicable data protection laws.
